

KARINNE CILENTO

I'm a Pullenvale local, a mother and a successful businesswoman, and I have nominated for the School Council as I want to help build an even brighter future for our school.

I'm the Director of Communications for Boeing Defence Australia, where I've worked in various communications roles for 13 years. During my career, I've worked in public relations for clients including well-known national and international consumer brands, the Golden Casket Lottery Corporation and Brisbane's Queen Street Mall, and I hold a Bachelor of Business degree from QUT. Despite my career successes, my greatest life achievement is being mother to Soraya, who is in grade 1 at Pullenvale SS.

DALLAS HAGGARTY

I am Dallas Haggarty and I am an experienced manager and leader with over 36 years in both Defence and Industry. I am currently employed as a management consultant with Jacobs Australia and have two children (Grade 2 and 4) at the school.

I will bring to the Council my knowledge of business improvement, performance measurement and risk management. My motivation for being on the Council is in ensuring that Pullenvale SS continues to offer all students the best start in life both academically and through their emotional development. I am also keen to grow the school's links with the community.

ANTHONY NEWELL

Anthony Newell currently has two children at the school in years two and three, with another starting Prep in 2018. He has been involved with the School community for the past four years, previously as P&C Vice President and currently as the Secretary. He has also been a junior rugby coach for the past three years. Anthony spent many years working internationally as a project manager in IT consultancies. He holds two Bachelor degrees (Education; Computer Science) and two Master degrees (Applied Finance, Behavioural Economics). He is currently undertaking a PhD in Economics. On the School Council Anthony would bring a focus on attainable and measurable education and social outcomes for our school and our children.

DR RICHA DAVE

I am a mum who is passionate about creativity, learning and education. I have worked for 18 years in the field of biomedical research in academic, industry and health setting. I have been part of research and academic councils actively involved in reviewing, reforming and implementing policies and procedures. I believe my ability to work collaboratively with external and internal stakeholders and project management skills could prove instrumental in the school's strategic planning and development to achieve best outcomes for the students and the community.

MICHAEL CREEVEY

I am the father of two girls, one in year one and the other will begin prep next year.

Following completion of computer science and electrical engineering degrees, my career began establishing and selling tech start-ups. After 10 years I moved into the biotechnology sector where I became a General Manager of the QIMR Berghofer Medical Research Institute for 6 years. I sit on the board of a large clinical trials company (Q-Pharm) where I was also interim CEO. I am now setting up a new software spinout specialising in digital health.

Expertise in governance of public and private entities and connections within STEM related academic/tertiary institutions, will bring value to the Council and most importantly further linkages and exposure to these vital areas for our students.

JAMIE RUDD

Background:

- Chartered Accountant with 15 year's experience
- Long term interest, our children are in Grade 3, Prep and Prep in 2021 & wife is a teacher at Pullenvale
- Experienced in developing strategic planning and development for stakeholders, whilst keeping aligned with long term goals, and monitoring of initiatives
- Ability to engage with relevant groups to understand their concerns and suggestions, and raise these with stakeholders to find solutions
- Previously worked with family groups to provide independent insight thus ensuring productive and constructive discussion
- Previously part of P&C Executive Committee
- Experienced with information technology

MATTHEW BURNS

I am a senior aerospace engineer and business manager with experience leading teams in the Australian civil and defence aerospace industries. I have experience in developing and successfully implementing business strategy and leading business change management.

As a proud parent of three great kids, with my oldest son now in 2nd grade at Pullenvale State School, I intend for all my children to grow and learn as they progress through PSS. I therefore have a vested interest in PSS maintaining and implementing a strategy that achieves the best possible growth and development outcomes for all our children.

